Consider here the Gender Recognition Act reform: consultation and its outcome (see links below),

- Download full report Download 'Gender Recognition Act reform: consultation and outcome' report \(825 KB , PDF\)
- This briefing paper deals with the UK Government's consultation on reforming the Gender Recognition Act 2004 (GRA) and, more briefly, with consultations conducted by the Scottish Government. These consultations asked whether the process for Transgender people to gain legal recognition in their acquired gender should be reformed.
- The paper also includes some information about medical treatment for gender dysphoria. Although this area did not form part of the UK Government's consultation, the Government said in its consultation response that research had shown improving healthcare support was a priority for Transgender people.

Annexe L has detail on strip and intimate searches for trans detainees from page 88 onwards.

Additional Video Resource:

This video has also been suggested by Bee Bailey (featured in the training session) as a useful resource – please note that this video has some discussion of sex, sexuality and may contain language that could be viewed as offensive. It features Trans people discussing questions they have been asked and their responses to them and is a really interesting way of hearing 'what not to say'.
